

Tree of Hope

Toned gelatin silver prints, drawing ink

5" x 7"

December 2021

We are living in history.

In the presence of a confusing and somewhat hopeless moment.

What knowledge is able to be passed to future generations?

What will be the explanations of the family photographs made during this time?

What glimpse of life are we giving the children when they try hard to remember their youth as the elders eighty years from now?

Hopeful moments and understanding surround our physical beings.

History is living in us.
